

WELBECK LAKES FISHERY

Anglers have fished at Welbeck for generations, drawn not only by the exceptional beauty of the estate, but also by the abundant number of fish and diverse range of species found in the lakes. The Fishery is centrally located on the Welbeck estate, offering members the opportunity to fish in a natural setting surrounded by stunning estate parkland with spectacular views of Welbeck Abbey across the Great Lake.

Lakes and Location

Three lakes are open for fishing at Welbeck, the Great Lake, Carburton Forge Dam and Carburton Dam, offering members up to 80 acres of fishing. The lakes and areas surrounding them have been designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest by Natural England and provide a fantastic habitat for a diverse range of wildlife, particularly birds. The lakes are located along the Carburton Road which can be accessed from the A616 via Cuckney and the B6034 via Carburton. Fishing along the three Welbeck lakes is permitted in designated areas, with separate car parking areas for each lake. The Fishery's main car park is located at the Great Lake and can be accessed through Milnethorpe Gate, also known as Fisherman's Gate. There are smaller parking areas for Carburton Forge Dam and Carburton Dam located along the Carburton road.

 - No hooks larger than size 4 should be used when bait fishing and they must be barbless on two points of the trebles with the barbed one in the bait.
 - Micro barbed single hooks can be used on lures, but they must be barbless to allow easy unhooking from the Pike yourself.
 - No free lining when bait fishing, a running lead must be used all the time.
 - No fixed leads except when paternostering where the paternoster link must be less than a quarter the strength of your main line.

- Adequate bite indication must be used all the time, preferably with some form of electronic instant bite indication is paramount.
- No slack lines.
- Set the hooks as soon as possible, NO 'waiting to make sure you get it.'
- Never be more than 10 seconds away from your rods.
- No kebab rigs.
- Triangular landing nets must be at least 40 inches. Pan nets at least 30 inches, both preferable rubberised and deep to protect the fish and avoid hooking up on loose trebles.

- If you are inexperienced, please do not fish on your own and ask one of the other members to help you.
- If you are caught flaunting any of the rules stated above, you will be asked to leave the lakes until you have the appropriate tackle or experience.
